Consumers Energy PowerMIDrive Program

Direct Current Fast Charging (DCFC) Rebate Program Eligible Communities Toolkit

Welcome

Consumers Energy's Direct Current Fast Charging (DCFC) Rebate Program is designed to expand access to fast charging infrastructure in Michigan communities that currently have limited public charging options. To help ensure rebate funding is directed where it is needed most, eligibility for the program is limited to communities located within Consumers Energy's electric service territory that lack sufficient DCFC infrastructure.

For purposes of this program, Consumers Energy defines a community as an incorporated city or village, or an unincorporated township, consistent with Michigan's established units of local government and prior Michigan Public Service Commission (MPSC) Transportation Electrification Plan (TEP) frameworks. Infrastructure availability is evaluated within the legally recognized municipal boundaries of that community.

A community is considered to lack sufficient fast charging infrastructure when it has:

1. Fewer than four publicly accessible DCFC ports rated at 150 kW or greater, and
2. Those ports are not distributed across at least two separate host sites within the community's municipal boundaries.

Purpose of This Toolkit

This toolkit was created to help prospective applicants determine whether their proposed project location is eligible for the Consumers Energy DCFC Rebate Program based on the community eligibility criteria described above.

The information provided in this document is intended to serve as a planning resource and preliminary eligibility guide. A community identified as ineligible may still pursue DC fast chargers at their proposed site; developers are free to move forward with a project without a rebate and remain subject to site-specific feasibility considerations. Applicants should review all program requirements before submitting an application.

For complete program details, including application requirements, scoring criteria, and evaluation methodology, please visit the Consumers Energy DC Fast Charger Rebates webpage.

How to Read This Toolkit

This toolkit identifies which communities are eligible for the Consumers Energy DCFC Rebate Program. Eligibility is based on the fast charging infrastructure already present within a community's municipal boundaries, and on projects Consumers Energy has already approved for rebate funding.

Ineligible communities (strikethrough)
A community shown with a strikethrough on the individual county pages is ineligible for DCFC rebates. Its completed, publicly accessible charging already meets the threshold of two or more separate host sites with four or more ports rated at 150 kW or greater.

Approved pending projects (†)
As Consumers Energy approves applications to the DCFC Rebate Program, some approved projects will bring a community to that same threshold once they are built. A project is approved pending when it has received rebate approval, but the site is not yet installed, energized, and open to the public.

Communities affected by an approved pending project are marked with a † rather than a strikethrough. Consumers Energy will not approve additional rebate applications in a † community while that project is pending, because completion would make the community ineligible. Applications submitted for a † community may be placed on a waitlist, and waitlist timelines can be lengthy.

Because approved projects are not guaranteed to reach completion, these communities are flagged rather than removed. If a pending project does not move forward, the community returns to full eligibility, and waitlisted applicants may be reconsidered.

Please refer to the individual county pages within this toolkit for more detailed information.

Keeping This Information Current

Public charging infrastructure continues to expand across Michigan. As a result, community eligibility may change over time as new fast-charging stations are installed and become operational.

This toolkit is a living document and will be updated periodically to reflect newly opened DCFC sites located within Consumers Energy's electric service territory.

Communities Ineligible for DCFC Rebates

The following communities are ineligible because they already have two or more charging sites with at least four (4) ports capable of delivering 150 kW or greater output:

Allegan County
Saugatuck Township

Calhoun County
City of Marshall
Emmett Township

Cheboygan County
Mackinaw City Village
Mackinaw Township

Clare County
City of Clare

Crawford County
City of Grayling

Genesee County
City of Fenton
City of Flint
Flint Township

Grand Traverse County
Garfield Township

Ingham County
Lansing Township

Isabella County
City of Mount Pleasant

Jackson County
Blackman Township

Kalamazoo County
City of Portage
Oshtemo Township

Kent County
City of Grand Rapids
City of Walker

Mecosta County
Big Rapids Township

Ogemaw County
West Branch Township

Otsego County
City of Gaylord

Ottawa County
Grand Haven Township

Saginaw County
Birch Run Township

Ineligibility applies only to the DCFC Rebate Program. These communities may still pursue DCFC charging projects within Consumers Energy's electric service territory; however, those projects would not be eligible for a rebate and remain subject to site-specific feasibility considerations.

This page lists communities that are currently ineligible for DCFC rebates based on completed, publicly accessible charging infrastructure. Communities marked with a † have an approved pending project rather than completed infrastructure. Consumers Energy is not approving new rebate applications in † communities while those projects are pending — applications may be waitlisted until the project is completed or withdrawn. Applicants are encouraged to focus on communities not listed on this page.
